The first mention I could find in the town records of this cemetery, which is the oldest one in Jamaica, was under date of November 5, 1668, when at a town meeting it was agreed that John Wascot was to fence the burying place, with good and sufficient five rail fence before the middle of the next March. He was to fence it ten rods square and to have four pounds current pay for his pains and labor.

Under date of December 5, 1670, at a town meeting it was decided that William Brinkley was to have a piece of land on the west side of the burial place, leaving a sufficient highway between his fence and Beaver Pond.

The History of Queens County says, that when the old Presbyterian Church was torn down in 1813, the bones of Rev. Patrick Gordon, who died July 28, 1702 and those of Rev. William Urquhart who died the last of August 1709, and those of the two wives of Rev. Thomas Poyer, whom had been buried under this church, were gathered up, put in a box and buried in the village cemetery. If this be true, no markers tell us of their final resting place.

In 1857, Nicholas Ludlum of New York, purchased three acres of land, east of the old burying ground and built a chapel, at his own expense in memory of his daughters.

This cemetery, containing the remains of the pioneers of this place, was incorporated in 1879 under the name of The Prospect Cemetery. It is sad to record that many old stones have been used to form a walk and new graves are being made over the old ones.

The first mention I could find in the town records of this cemetery, which is the oldest one in Jamaica, was under date of November 3, 1888, when at a town meeting it was agreed that John Wascot was to fence the burying place, with good and sufficient five rail fence before the middle of the next March. He was to fence it ten rods square and to have four pounds current pay for his pains and labor.

Under date of December 5, 1890, at a town meeting it was decided that William Burdick was to have a piece of land on the west side of the burying place, leaving a sufficient highway between his fence and Beaver Pond.

The history of Queens County says, that when the old Presbyterian Church was torn down in 1813, the bones of Rev. Patrick Gordon, who died July 28, 1702 and those of Rev. William Ordman who died the last of August 1709, and those of the two wives of Rev. Thomas Boyer, whom had been buried under this church, were gathered up, put in a box and buried in the village cemetery. If this be true, no mark-ers tell us of their final resting place.

In 1857, Nicholas Ludlum of New York, purchased three acres of land, east of the old burying ground and built a chapel, at his own expense in memory of his daughters.

This cemetery, containing the remains of the pioneers of this place, was incorporated in 1879 under the name of the Prospect Cemetery. It is said to record that many old stones have been used to form a wall and new graves are being made over the old ones.

The cry invades my ear,
Alas! Here lies an only son
Now in his eighth and twentieth year.
Hear what the voice from Heaven proclaims
That nature must decay and must these Active limbs of mine, lie mouldering in the clay.
Fare you well my children dear,
My sister and my friends,
I hope in Heaven ypu will appear
Where all things have their end."
